Example answer:

Dear Sam,

Long time no see. How are you?

I live in Rome now with my husband and two children. I'm a doctor now so I'm very busy every day. Well, not every day. I always have weekends with the family. Tom is six and is quiet. He has blonde hair like my husband. My other son is Oliver. He is four and is very different from Tom. He's noisy and has got brown hair and dark skin like me.

Do you still live in Germany? How's your family? What do you do now? Do you still work at the university?

My telephone number is 07866 246755 so please call me when you are in Paris. Or I can come to Germany sometime.

Best wishes,
Laura

B

Example answer:

Hi Ian,

How are you? I'm fine. Thanks for your email.

Your weekend sounds fun. My weekend is busy as well. I usually get up early on Saturday because I go swimming with my friend. Then, we go for a big breakfast or an early lunch. After that, I watch my sister play football or go shopping with my mum. In the evening, we eat together and watch TV so it's quite relaxing.

On Sunday, I get up late, but not really late. Mum doesn't like me staying in bed for very long. We have lunch and then take the dog for a walk in the mountains or near the sea. We are lucky to live close to both. In the evening, I often do my homework for the next day when school starts again.

Anyway, tell me about your family next!

Example answer:

The Natural History Museum is a beautiful museum in Oxford, England. It's quite big and is a very nice place for children and adults to spend time. It's near Oxford city centre so you can walk there in about ten minutes. It's a big old building with lots of interesting things to look at. You can learn about animals, space and dinosaurs. There are some quizzes for children and there's a café upstairs with sandwiches and hot and cold drinks. There's also a gift shop so you can buy some presents for your friends.

I work in the tourist office, so I work from nine to five every weekday. After work, I like to meet friends or play sport. On Mondays after work, I often meet my friend at a coffee shop. It's a nice way to start the week. After that, I go home and have a quiet evening. On Tuesdays, I don't do very much after work but I enjoy watching films, so I might see if there is something good on TV. Then, on Wednesdays, I play badminton with my sister. We are in a local team and sometimes have matches at the weekend. On Thursdays, I do a pub quiz. It's great but we never win. On Fridays, I sometimes finish work early. I go to the gym and then I usually meet friends in the city centre and we might go dancing. Finally, if I don't have a badminton match, I love relaxing with my family. I go to my parents' house or go shopping with my mum.

Example answer:

Last summer, I stayed at a hotel in Italy with a friend.

Some things about the hotel were great. It was in the middle of Florence, so it was easy to get everywhere on foot. We could walk to all the tourist places like the Uffizi art gallery, the Duomo and of course L'Accademia dell'Arte, famous for the Statue of David. Our room was lovely. It had two beds and a private bathroom. It was very clean and comfortable and had everything we needed.

The bad things were that we paid quite a lot of money for the room. It really wasn't cheap. And also, the food was nothing special. We had pasta that had no taste and didn't seem to be fresh. And my friend had a starter of soup which was cold. I wanted to try delicious traditional Italian food, but after the first night, we ate out most of the time.

I recommend staying at this hotel if you want a great location and a nice room, but make sure you're ready to spend money on restaurants if you don't enjoy the food!

In my living room, there's a photograph of me and my children walking on the beach near our house in the west of England. It's winter so we are all wearing big coats and boots. It's raining and the sky is dark. It was a few years ago so they were still small, all under ten years old. I love this photograph because the weather is terrible, but we are all having fun, even the dog! The children didn't want to go outside, but after the walk, we all felt better and had a nice cup of hot chocolate.

Dear Holiday4U,

I am writing to book a holiday for me and my family.

We would like to join the two-week activity holiday on 1st August in California. There are four people in our group and we will arrive by bus from the Los Angeles International Airport.

My children are 14 and 16. Will they be able to do all of the activities that I can see on your website, or is there a minimum age? Also, could you tell me if we need to hire a car or if there are day trips with your company on the days we aren't doing sport?

I look forward to hearing from you soon.

Example answer:

A few weeks ago, I bought a tent because I am going to some festivals this year with my friends. There are two bad points that I want to tell you about. Firstly, I couldn't easily understand the instructions. It looked perfect in the shop and just the right size for the four of us, but we had real problems putting it up. Secondly, it is very heavy to carry. It comes in a small bag which is great, but you need two people to carry it.

What I liked about it is the quality. It's very well-made. The ground sheet which goes on the floor is very strong and can go on any type of ground. We used it last weekend and it rained heavily in the night, but we stayed nice and dry. It also came with a small free camping stove which is very useful.

I recommend this product for anyone who wants to go camping. But please practise putting it up and make sure there is someone with you to help you carry it.

Example answer:

This is a photograph of one of my favourite buildings. It's St Michael's Tower, which is at the top of Glastonbury Tor in the south-west of England. It's part of an old stone church that was first built in the 11th century and rebuilt in the 14th century after an earthquake. Most of the church has disappeared so only the tower remains today. Most people climb the Tor, which means hill. From the top you can see the beautiful countryside. Because the area is very flat, you can see for many miles. I like it because it's a very peaceful place where you can relax and enjoy the view. When I went there, it was a lovely sunny day. I'd recommend it to people who want to leave the busy city and see some nature.

What about Thali's? It's an Indian restaurant on North Street. I have been there a few times with friends and always had a lovely meal. They have traditional Bangladeshi food with a variety of hot and mild curries. We went there for an office Christmas party and there was quite a lot of us, so I'm sure they can reserve a table for 20 people. It should be quiet because there are separate rooms, not one big open space.
